

SUN BEAMS

by WALTER M. BARRETT

Tuesday may prove to be one of the most important days in the history of the country. Then we will be asked to go to the polls and cast our ballot for the future leaders of our country. Opinions differ on the qualifications of the candidates. That is the reason for elections, but regardless of your choice go to the polls and vote. During the next four years the destiny of the nation may be decided so above all else don't let anything stand in your way of doing your bit next Tuesday.

It is the prerogative of every editor to make certain recommendations just prior to an election. On the 17 propositions on the ballot, we wish to make a specific recommendation on only one—Proposition No. 13. This measure threatens the very existence of the state park system which the Truckee Republican, with other California newspapers, strove to establish in 1928. Our scenery and opportunities for outdoor life are part of the joys of living in California. No bits at not only those parks which have oil fields under them but is an opening wedge to other measures to exploit our state. This should be nipped in the bud by a NO vote on Proposition 13 on November 5.

As the most conclusive evidence that what we have been saying for years regarding the advantages of trading in Truckee, the Loynd Truckee Drug this week is telling the world of exceptional values in drug and drug sundries. We urge you to scan these prices and compare them with those offered elsewhere. There is no doubt that in every store in Truckee prices and values are just as appealing as those found in much larger and more frequented centers. Keep patronizing your home merchant.

Whether or not you are a winter sports fan you must admit that the sport is gaining fast favor in this state. In order to keep pace with the demands of the snow field visitors, an organized effort is being made in Truckee to provide the necessary inducements. This is being done by the Truckee Outing Club and you are invited to be a part of this program by joining. The membership fee is low and the benefits are great.

Don't forget the Halloween party at the grammar school auditorium tonight. The Junior Game Patrol is in charge and a good time is promised all attending. There is no charge. The boys are entitled to a lot of credit for their efforts and you can reward them by being on hand to night.

Order Numbers Assigned Local Men In Draft

Few Likely to be Drawn For Military Service This Year

BOB GIFFORD FIRST

93 Local Men in First 6500 Names Drawn For Training

With the eight western states comprising the 9th Corps Area furnishing only 1630 men in the first selective service call, it is unlikely that more than two or three, if any, will be selected from this immediate community for the first draft from November 2 to November 26.

It is estimated that only one man in four drawn will be accepted for military service. This being the case and with enlistments expected to fill the first group of 30,000, probably no one from here will be in service until after the second call in December. It is the desire of the conscription board to have 400,000 in service by February 18.

Men who have numbers over 2000 may well assume that they will not be called for at least a year, it was announced.

The procedure to be adopted for Northern California draftees was announced as follows: The boards will sort the questionnaires and provide medical examinations for the men as called. They will then be sent to Sacramento or San Francisco for a second examination and held for one day. From there they will be sent to either the Presidio of Monterey or Fort McArthur for regular service or a final weeding out.

The questionnaires will be started to the first men on Monday, it was announced, and they must be back with the board within five days.

The unofficial order number, serial number and names of the first 93 Truckee and Norden men in the first 6500 numbers drawn are as follows:

HIGHER PEAKS NEAR TAHOE CAPPED WITH SNOW AFTER STORM

TAHOE CITY—The level of Lake Tahoe on Monday, October 28, was 6226.42 feet above mean sea level; with four gates open at the Truckee River Dam outlet and 351 cubic feet of water leaving the lake. Precipitation recorded on the 23rd, 24th and 25th totaled 1 inch. Highest temperature Sunday was 39 degrees and lowest was 27 degrees, night temperature. Mount Rose, Freel's Peak, Tallac and Stanford Rock are all wearing new white caps of snow but there is not trace at the lake level where autumn colors are at their last loveliness now.

Traffic over the weekend was much slower than usual due to cloudy weather.

MEEKS BAY CLUB HAS MUCH ACTIVITY AT RECENT MEETING

by MRS. LEE GARNER
The M & W Philanthropic club of Meeks Bay held their weekly meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Schumacher. The building committee reported the possibility of using the new club house in November.

Harold T. Langille of the Rotary Oil and Burner Company of Truckee will donate a stove and Schumacher will donate the stove pipe. Letters of thanks are being sent donors by the club.

President and Mrs. Phil Geier returned from a two-weeks vacation through Washington and Oregon in time for him to preside at the meeting.

It was decided not to admit new members until the completion of the club house since sessions held in private homes tax the capacity as it is. Mrs. Nile Luke, Geier and Mr. and Mrs. Tejas Edwards won first awards in the guessing games that closed the evening.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stark.

Aged Veteran Of Railroads Dies At Local Home

Local Woman's Father Dies After Long Illness At Home

William Broderick, 88, father of Mrs. Robert Buddle, died at the S. F. Hotel here Sunday morning. He had been here six weeks, coming from Oregon. He had been ill since March, 1938.

Broderick, a native of Illinois, was a charter member of the Knights of Pythias lodge in Missoula, Mont. He was a retired railroad employee, leaving the service four years ago in Portland, Ore., where he had lived for 22 years.

Summit Lodge No. 54, K. of P., of Truckee conducted services at the I. O. O. F. hall Tuesday. The body was shipped to Sacramento for cremation at East Lawn.

He is survived by his widow and Mrs. Buddle.

During the early days of the west, Broderick was employed on railroad construction work and related many interesting experiences of these trying times.

THIS COUNTY GETS $7,750 FROM LIQUOR TAX DISTRIBUTION

R. E. Collins, chairman of the board of equalization, today announced the allocation of $7,570 to Nevada county as its share of the distribution of alcoholic beverage license fees earned during the first six-month period of 1940.

Of the county's share, $3,652.50 will go to the unincorporated area.

Unincorporated areas of Placer county will receive $4,783.75 of that county's $10,023.75 allocation.

Collins pointed out that the current distribution for the entire state amounted to $1,591,980.46. This represents one-half of the net fees earned during the period.

WET SEASON BRINGS RELIEF TO OFFICIALS OF NATIONAL FOREST

Tahoe Forest officials welcomed the recent rains as the probable ending of the period of high fire hazard at least, according to E. L. Baxter, in charge of fire control. Guards and lookouts are being placed on improvement work, principally in installing cross drains on mountain roads and trails in order to prevent, so far as possible, damage from winter rains and snows. Baxter states that though the fire danger is greatly reduced, burning permits are required by state law until December 1. On the Tahoe, the no smoking, campfire permit and shovel and axe rules have been rescinded until further notice.

ENGINEERS AND SIGNALS

The Engineer Corps and the Signal Corps have special duties in keeping our Army going places and in touch with headquarters. But they still are combat arms. This means that if they have to they can throw down their slide rules and their telegraph instruments and trot out to show the infantry how to throw lead at an enemy.

The Corps of Engineers is the arm that furnishes technical engineering skill to the Army. It gets its practice in peacetime by taming rivers, building dams and other engineering structures. If there is any kind of a dirty administrative job that needs doing, you usually find an Army engineer assigned to get it done, for getting things done is the breath of life to an engineer. All you have to do is tell an engineer it can't be done. He will then reach in his back pocket, pull out a slide rule and by the time you've proved it can't be done, he has gone and finished it.

Functions of the Engineers

A little problem in river bridging is just meat. They have whole warehouses full of folding bridges. Just tell the size of the river and they trot out some folding boats and steel sections, a few boards, and the Army is on its way again, tanks, guns and all. The ydig tunnels, build buildings, move mountains, put roads where they ought to be, run railways, whip up power and light systems, furnish water, build defense systems. In fact, they are a very handy organization to have around.

They can be nasty if someone asks them to, for they conduct military mining. That is, they build tunnels under where the enemy is sitting, and blow up the whole works. They also blow up bridges, roads, and railroads when necessary to hinder the enemy. Their duties are simple. They make movement and supply of our own army easier, and make it just as tough as possible for the enemy.

Just now the year engaged in building up our defense systems, providing buildings and structures for the Army and adding to their supplies of materials and plant tools. Most of the requirements of the Engineer Corps can be met from civilian construction supplies and the Defense Advisory Commission is seeing that they get them when they need them. The Engineers are also in charge of the camouflage, hiding our forces from the enemy by paint, branches of trees, or anything else that is handy.

The Signal Corps

The Signal Corps doesn't tell the Army what to do, but they fix it so the Army knows what it is doing, which is just a important. When the general wants a little something warlike done, the news has to get to the boys up in front who have the doing in hand—and the orders have to get there right side up, accurate and n time.

There is the story about Rurik the Red coming south across the Baltic Sea back in the ninth century, with a fleet of 10,000 ships to whale the tar out of the tribes on the southern shore. Well, it appears that Rurik didn't have telephone, telegraph, radio, motorcycles, airplanes or homing pigeons such as our Signal Corps has today. One unit didn't know what the next was up to. The tribes on shore just slaughtered the men as they came ashore boat by boat. That was a lesson in communications.

Our Signal Corps has all those methods of communication, including a few more that they have up their sleeves but don't say much about. On the side, it takes care of the weather, photographs and moving pictures for training purposes. It also eavesdrops on the enemy communications and picks up some mighty interesting information in the process.

Like the Engineers, when its duties of keeping communications open carry it close to the front lines, the Signal Corps takes time off from its other activities to do a little straight shooting.

Before new commercial products and inventions can be adapted to military communications, a considerable modification or a complete redesign is usually necessary. Then, means of getting the redesigned equipment manufactured must be set up by the Assistant Secretary of War. The factories capable of producing this equipment are selected and the National Defense Advisory Commission sees to it that the equipment is produced. This is being done.

The Signal Corps also operates its own fixed radio network, throughout the United States and keeps in touch with the whole Army—both here and overseas. In addition, the Army has organized some 1200 of the 50,000 licensed radio operators in this country into a network that can augment the official facilities.

Man Asks to see Exhibit Closed for over 80 Years

SACRAMENTO (UP)—There are many historic exhibits in the rotunda of the state capitol, including one case of posters and relics associated with Joaquin Murietta, the Robin Hood bandit who reigned in the early '50s in California.

An elderly man scrutinized a yellow placard advertising the one-day showing of "The Head of the renowned Joaquin and the hand of Three Fingers Jack," going on to relate how the men were captured by state rangers.

In all seriousness, the man approached a capitol policeman and asked: "Where can I find this exhibition? I'd like to see it."

The officer answered that the man had missed the show by about 80 years.

The average unemployment of the seven years of the Roosevelt administration is 9,402,000 or 18 per cent of the total labor force.

A GOOD JUSTICE—

Reports of the deliberations of the state supreme court indicate that Phil Gibson, appointed to this bench about a year ago and recently named chief justice, is carrying on the duties of his high office with fearlessness and intelligence.

Chief Justice Gibson has that sine qua non for a great judge—a real judicial mind. His decisions have been marked by lucidity of reasoning, clarity of thought and beauty of language. Lawyers generally are of the belief that he will go down in California's legal annals as one of the great justices.

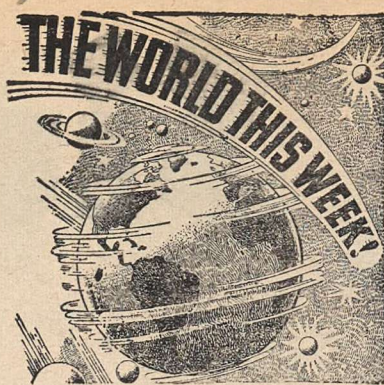

In this campaign year, when office seekers are scrambling for office with a feverishness not often approached, it is an excellent thing that our justices of the supreme court are not called upon to "do politics."

They can reserve their time and energy for giving the greatest possible service to the state. This Chief Justice Gibson is doing. —San Jose News.

NOW LET'S VOTE—

Never before in history have so many Californians—4,052,395—qualified for an election as stand qualified to vote on November 5. That is good; for never has a more important election confronted this state or this nation. The future of our democracy will be vitally affected by the decision of the electorate. It is therefore more than the registered citizen's right and privilege to vote in this election—it is his patriotic duty. The only true democratic rule is rule by the great majority of the people. When material numbers of those registered fail to vote, they join with those who have not even registered in the leaving the questions of leadership an national policy to decision by a minority—a minority that may be blind or selfish. The essence of our faith in democracy as the best vehicle of government is that all of the people can not be misled for long—if all exercise their rightful voice in government. Let's have the true voice, the whole voice of California in this critical election. Let's resolve to cast every possible ballot. Let's vote the whole four million!

Power will intoxicate the best hearts, as wine the strongest heads. No man is wise enough, nor good enough, to be trusted with unlimited power. —Caleb C. Colton.

WINTER WARFARE

With clouds and fog banks wreathing the British Isles and storms whipping the English channel, the winter war has set in but it brings no promise of respite for that island kingdom. Within the fortnight, new aerial tactics of the Nazi air armada have brought increasing destruction upon London and less damage to the German air fleet. Losses of opposing air forces, formerly heavily in England's favor, has now become nearly equal. But while the Battle of Britain goes on through the darkening winter months, with the threat of invasion always hovering near, a new battle of the Mediterranean looms in the foreground. With preparations afoot for all air and naval bases in France and throughout the French empire to be handed over to the Axis powers, and Spain to join an attack upon Gibraltar, guardian of the Mediterranean's gateway, the Battle of Britain seems due very soon to enter a second stage where it will become the battle for an empire and its life-line.

A LABOR CHIEF SPEAKS OUT

John L. Lewis, president of the C.I.O., unloosed one of the biggest thunderbolts of the presidential campaign in his nationwide radio address a few nights ago in which he bluntly denounced the third term. The labor chieftain pulled no punches in opposing any break in the 150 year old tradition that no man shall serve as president for more than two terms. The dangers of such an event have been pointed out long before the present election made of that danger an actual possibility. The no third term principle is nearly as old as the Constitution itself. It was eloquently set forth by Jefferson, warmly seconded by Jackson and has clearly re-echoed in the warnings of great statesmen since then. Not the least of these was Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi who, with prophetic insight, years ago declared, "I said the only dangerous men to free institutions were popular men. They must first be bold, then they must be popular and then they must be ambitious. If you give them these three things and then give them a 'crisis', they would prevail. You are going to have crises in your history and you are going to have men of that sort." With such a crisis at hand, even such a formerly stalwart supporter of the President as John L. Lewis has been moved to speak out emphatically against shattering that long venerated tradition which says "No third term."

UNLUCKY 13

The rapidly mounting denunciations being heaped on Proposition 13 on the November ballot show that Californians' concern with the presidential campaign hasn't prevented them from keeping a watchful eye on their interests. This proposition, as unlucky as its name, would strike directly at one of the state's most priceless investments, its state park system. The joker in this amendment provides that the money paid for such parks—a are sold—does not have to be used

WENDELL L. WILLKIE

The Story of A Country Boy Who Made Good and Why THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION Nominated him for PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

The story began in Elwood, Indiana, February 19, 1892. A driver of a delivery wagon young Willkie learned how to hitch up a horse and about horse power while, afterwards stood him in good stead when he began putting thousands of horse power together.

Two Elwood neighbors were passing Herman Willkie's home. One of them said, "Hermie got a new kid. He sure has got a lucky pair of lungs. Should be able to make himself heard later on, eh?"

This youngster grew into a healthy, rough and tumble boy—inventor and leader in pranks. He never sought trouble, but if trouble overtook him he did not let it bludge him.

In what year the Willkie family moved to the town of Elwood, Indiana, the young Willkie became teacher of history in the Elwood High School. He also acted as coach in athletics.

Young Willkie became teacher of history in the Elwood High School. He also acted as coach in athletics.

Important! CONVENTION LITTON

After his return from France Wendell Willkie hardly waited to get out of his uniform before he was after a job. For he had married Miss Edith Willkie. He landed a job as a secretary for the Elwood Tire & Rubber Co.

The first attempt to "stop Willkie" was when the New Deal High Command sent their toughest terror, Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, to take him apart at a town hall debate in New York. But Bob was the one stunned and like-wise was his presidential balloon.

Willkie awoke next morning to find himself being looked over to head the biggest business in the world, the USA.

It was the New Deal Administration that made Willkie. When they glared at him and at the point of a gun, attempted to take his company which belonged to his thousands of shareholders, he fought, and won. The Country learned about the man; his courage, ability and accomplishments.

John O. Public jumped to his feet—shouted: "There is our man. Let's go and get him!"

Tough jobs, but they made a man of the youngster who was not afraid to tackle them.

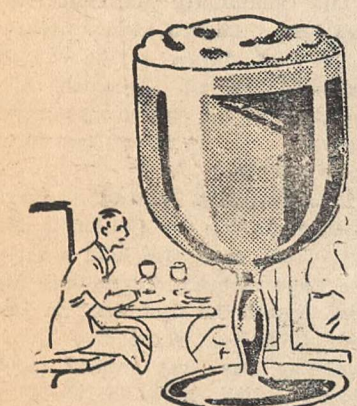

His remarkable success in winning cases brought him a call from New York to head Commerce and Southern Railway Commission.

Instead of dismissing employees to meet diminishing returns, he hired more people to sell more electrical equipment, which would use more power, reduce the rate and in turn, create more jobs and incidentally make some profits. It was as simple as that, and it worked!

Displays of native Hawaiian art, cles—of koa wood, tapa cloth made from tree bark—interested the audience between the acts. Talks were given by students in the class rooms on the geography and life in islands. Models of Schofield Barracks and Pearl Harbor were also explained by different pupils with accompanying maps. Books on Hawaii made and illustrated by the students were also on display.

The first act, composed by Robert Edwards, pictured the natives at their feasts and games. The setting of grass thatched huts, palm trees and flowers with Mount Pele, the volcano, in the background, made a colorful frame for the students garbed in their flower leis and bright costumes. Young Edwards as the king and June White as the fire goddess, with a solo by Lois Deimel were outstanding features. A moonlight scene with a native couple in a canoe was also impressive.

After the play the students sold hand made articles and candy for the

PIONEER CALIFORNIA DEMOCRAT MAKES WILLKIE STATEMENT

Joseph Mesmer, ranking senior pioneer of the California Democratic party, in a public address last week defined his reasons for changing his presidential vote for the first time in 64 years, speaking for California Democrats opposed to a Third Term, Inc. in Los Angeles.

Mesmer, who came to California when he was but three and a half years old, has voted for every Democratic presidential nominee beginning with Samuel J. Tilden in 1876. He is noted for his continued civic interest in state affairs and has been one of the foremost philanthropic leaders.

Joining the Democratic party 64 years ago, Mesmer said he had stayed with the party through victory and defeat both as worker and party leader. He has voted in 16 national presidential elections always as a Democrat, but this time he "is voting for the man whose principles he believes to be right, Wendell Willkie."

"President Franklin D. Roosevelt has advanced many deserving and well meaning acts during his two-term administration," he said. "Shortly after his election for a second term, instead of returning to the principles of the Democratic Party, he started on a course that I think can lead only to dictatorship. His attempts to pack the Supreme Court, his attacks on Senators and Congressmen who disagreed with him and now his self-engineered attempt to be elected for a third and perhaps indefinite term, are dangerous and disturbing signs. I wonder what he has in mind if re-elected for a third term. I do not wish to find out. As I have said earlier, I would not vote for my own Daddy for a third term. I cannot and I will not vote for a third term for anyone else. I shall cast my 17th presidential vote for Wendell Willkie. I hope you and your friends will do so too."

Baseball interest in Sacramento hit its lowest ebb since 1936 under Cardinal ownership last year, but with Martin's appointment and the assurance of President Phil Batrelmo after a flying trip to St. Louis, that the Solons are booked for a good club in 1941 has pitched baseball interest to its highest point since 1928.

Tabbed by newspapermen throughout the east as the "best copy" that ever wore a uniform, Martin can boast of a long and colorful career filled with great play and incidents that have made him known and loved throughout the sporting public of the nation.

WINGS FOR AMERICA

by Don Wiley
MEMBER, AVIATION WRITERS ASSN

Out of the big paint hangar and into the brilliant Southern California sunshine coes a sturdy, twin-engined monoplane. Despite the coat of camouflage and the glassed-in nose, the lines of the ship are definitely familiar.

For this is the military prototype of a famous American transport plane. This is the Hudson bomber, beloved by Britain's Royal Air Force, just about the toughest specimen, Hitler's Luftwaffe has ever bumped into.

A mile away, in a small, closely-guarded hangar on the edge of Burbank's Union Air Terminal, stands another twin-engined ship, as gleaming and as streamlined as a steel-jacketed bullet. Workmen are giving it a thorough overhaul. But even with the outer wings dismantled and the nacelle panels stripped from the two Allison engines, the ship gives an impression of tremendous power, tremendous speed.

This is the P-38 interceptor-pursuit, probably the swiftest and one of the deadliest of the world's fighting aircraft.

These two planes are symbolic of the tremendous activity now underway at the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, where 14,000 men are now busy on a backlog exceeding $21,000,000.

Currently a steady flow of Hudsons is coming off the Lockheed assembly line. And by the first of the year, production will be well under way on some 1500 of the P-38s, 700 for the U. S. Army Air Corps, 800 for Great Britain.

You have only to peep at the P-38 to understand why fighting aircraft cannot be created as quickly and as cheaply as automobiles, although, parenthetically, Lockheed and other California aircraft factories have performed wonders in the matter of quantity production since the present emergency took shape.

This ship is as precisely constructed as a fine watch. It has to be. Its speed is somewhere in the neighborhood of 500 miles per hour, yet it must be capable of extreme maneuverability. Every rivet must be driven flush with the surface so as not to protrude and cause a slowing "drag", yet provision must be made for the weight of machine guns, cannons and gasoline sufficient for a cruising range of 1100 miles.

Only the most careful methods and the most highly-skilled workmen are capable of creating such an instrument of defense.

A far different type of warplane, but just as effective in its way, is the Hudson. Adapted from a commercial transport, the British originally ordered the Hudson principally for coastal "Everlasting Punishment" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday, November 3, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The Golden Text will be: "Righteousness keepeth him that is upright in the way; but wickedness overthroweth the sinner" (Proverbs 13:6).

New York has the largest number of motor vehicles registered and Nevada the smallest number.

patrol work. Yet today these ships are being utilized not only as bombers, but as twin-engined fighters.

From England have come stories of performances by Hudsons that would see mincredible if the tales weren't told by the men who were there and saw for themselves.

Hudsons have come home safely with one motor shattered and their fuselage holed like nutmeg graters. Anti-aircraft shells have actually exploded inside the cabins without bringing the Hudsons down.

One RAF pilot told of flying 400 miles home from a raid with a shell hole big enough for two men to crawl through gaping in the wing between the starboard engine and the fuselage. And several times when German fighters got on their tails, the British have dived Hudsons at 400 miles per hour and outrun the Messerschmitts by literally skimming the wave-tops over the channel. Why? Because the Nazi fighters lose speed at low altitudes while the Hudsons don't.

No wonder, then, that Hudsons are being produced at top speed at Burbank.

And, with the record order of P-38s on hand, small wonder that Lockheed is expanding with feverish speed. New buildings are going up all around the Burbank plant. Other structures are rising rapidly at the Union Air Terminal. A $150,000 wind tunnel is being constructed. Planes roar away on test flights from the factory runway. Vast supplies of dural, tubing and parts are stored in stock rooms. Thousands of men are busy on the myriad jobs required in the production of military aircraft.

Yet in the midst of all this activity, this company has not lost sight of the needs of peace, as the shining wings of airline transport planes, being built alongside the warcraft assembly lines, attest.

That Electrical Imp VOLTAGE DROP

* When home wiring is inadequate, power is choked off along the wires. This results in voltage drop at the outlets.

* When voltage drops, your lights dim, your appliances slow down, your radio loses volume, just as if an electrical imp were busy making trouble.

* Voltage drop costs you money, loss of light and loss of efficient service from your home's electrical equipment—efficient electrical service to which you are entitled.

A Cheering Message To The Sick

Next Friday, November 8th (one week from tomorrow) Dr. Keith of the Basic Science System will be in Truckee to examine the sick...
14 Point Health Examination for $1.

Back of all illnesses there is a cause. Sometimes it is far removed from the symptoms. To locate this cause is the aim of the Basic Science System. Thousands of patients have been helped back to normal health through this system of examination and treatment.

The first step in a return to happy, healthful living is to know what is causing you illness; the second step is to know what to do about it. Dr. Keith tells you both these things.

This examination tells you the condition of your lungs, heart, stomach, liver, gall bladder, intestines, kidneys, glands, blood, throat, skin, spleen, pancreas and nervous system. It tells you the cause of headaches, dizziness, high or low blood pressure, nervousness, sleeplessness, rheumatism, female troubles, etc., and how to correct it.

No Obligation No Guess Work
No Clothes Removed
